Special Industry Seminar: Smithfield Foods

“A Seminar on the Current Economy, Trade and Commodity Market Dynamics”

Dhamu Thamodaran is the Executive Vice-President, Chief Strategy Officer and Chief Commodity Hedging Officer of Smithfield Foods. He manages commodity hedging activities, and heads the group for research and analysis in global economy and commodities. Dr. Thamodaran joined Smithfield Foods as Director of Price Risk Management in August 1995, and was promoted to Vice-President of Price Risk Management in May 1996, and to Senior Vice-President & Chief Commodity Hedging Officer in June 2008.

10:45am, Friday, April 5, 2019, Owens Banquet Hall

Smithfield Foods is a $15 billion global food company that employs over 54,000 people in various fields including accounting/finance, operations/production, supply chain management, engineering, human resources, animal science, food safety, information technology, sales/marketing and many more. Please join us to learn more about the company and their economic outlook.